Club Induction Guide

Clubs should conduct some form of induction (formal or informal) for their new members at the start of the season to setup their experience with your club on the right note. It's important to set out measures of "prevention" at the start rather than having to sort out situations with a "cure" later down the track.

Below you will see key topics to cover/actions to perform for your newcomers that can apply to players, parents, volunteers, coaches and referees.
